

BUSINESS ATTORNEY AND LAW FIRM OWNER

Matthew Davis, Esq.

ABOUT ME

Matthew Neill Davis is an attorney, heavy metal guitarist, and entrepreneur that led his solely owned firm, Davis Business Law, through over 1000% percent growth over ten years, making it one of very rare law firms ever to make the Inc 5000 list. The firm currently has ten offices from Austin to Denver. With over twenty-five years of experience helping businesses leaders with their legal and entrepreneurial matters, Davis now teaches them how to deal with their vulnerabilities so they can capitalize on their opportunities through his firm's proprietary Strong Protected Business System. Davis lives in Enid, Oklahoma, where his family has lived for six generations, and holds degrees from the University of Oklahoma, Cornell University, and Cornell College.

POTENTIAL TOPICS

- Building a Strong Protected Business
- The Art of Preventing Stupid
- How to Deal with Your Business Vulnerabilities - So you can Capitalize on your Opportunities
- Scaling a Multi-Office Service or Professional Business
- How to Proactively Protect Your Business
- Disrupting Law Firm Management

POTENTIAL QUESTIONS

- What's the #1 mistake business owners make?
- How can business owners protect their businesses?
- What are the tricks to proactively protecting your business?
- Why did you title your book "The Art of Preventing Stupid?"
- What should business owners look for in a lawyer?
- What has been the hardest obstacle to growing your business?
- In your book you talk about all business being a series of circular systems, what do you mean by that?
- What are your best tools for recruiting team members?
- How important is culture in your company?

